Chips

We are asked to announce officially that the Prom tonight will be the last occasion on which a "tox" will be necessary until the long and hard summer is over, and fraternities and sororities are doing business at the old stand again.

By now you have seen the Troubadours, or if you haven't, you will, so we will neither bore you, nor rob you of the initial pleasure of discovering it yourself by telling you what we think about it. After it's all over, if we get in on the dirt, as we usually do, we'll let you have all a lenient Board of Editors will allow.

In the columns of this rag, we observe that Ralph Hilton, director extraordinaire of the Vodvil, witnessed a "rough presentation" of the acts for that particular institution sacred to George Washington. We are a little in doubt as to which act was the rough one, but we have narrowed it down to two. It is either "A Little Smut," or "The Dean's Office." You, too, may be popular if you act in the Vodvil, and if you are prevented, you may see others who are willing to make public examples of themselves.

With all the University officials going off to conventions, and with students following suit, we take care to ask, respectfully, "and to what office did you get elected (appointed, chosen), this time?"

A little birdie told us that the speakers at the Gamma Eta Zeta banquet the other evening talked to the young journalists of the feminine sex about everything but the topic which was assigned to them. A. P. Delt tells us that the topics weren't much in the first place.

While most of the gang that usually congregates at the printer's on Sunday night was at Wardman putting the finishing touches on their make-ups and acts for "Sometime Soon," the rest of the group of editors, near editors, would be editors, reporters, and general hangers-on, celebrated Maude I. O'Flaherty's unpeppery birthday by eating cake and potato chips provided in honor of the occasion by the Rev. Francis H. "Tommy" Tompkins.

Which reminds us that the list of those who plan to attend the Prom tonight mysteriously disappeared from its place on the side of Building 3 the other day. Black magic is suspected.

This Hatchet Board is doing itself proud with an anniversary number of the paper next week. While not all of them were in school in 1904 when the publication was founded, they can take such pleasure as they may from being regarded as a quarter-century-old institution.

Our picture is going to be on the front page, but since we are modest, they are going to print one of Prexy on top of ours.

Shades of 1928! The Cherry Tree again goes co-ed, and Dot Ruth (a Hatchet reporter, among other things, by the way) is elevated to the position of the Worried Chairman of the Board for 1930. That's another election that politics didn't control.

Something will have to be done sometime soon if the Colonial Wig doesn't stop stealing The Hatchet's stuff. First they took the idea of knocking the football team away from our column, and now they propose to use the fifth point on The Hatchet's list of advocations (good word, that) as a starter for a discussion on a Student Union Building, which has absolutely nothing at all to do with a seven-hour day, or a five-day week.

Professor Donaldson will have the honor of having his textbook on international economics lost in every corner of the globe, for the world cruise has installed the volume as a text, and as you know, textbooks are apt to be left anywhere.

Imagine telling the prof in India: "Sorry, sir, but I left Dr. Donaldson's treatise in Hong Kong. May I be excused?"

Columbian Debaters hold the last meeting of the season. Thank heaven for that!

We understand that there will be enough editors and business managers on campus Saturday from G. W. and neighboring colleges to form two football teams. Only, instead of saying, "Signals off," they will merely remark, "It's a typographical error, will you excuse it, please?"

And isn't this Sue Crump a knock-out?

Bye-Bye.

DICK ROLLO.

SPRING FORMAL AT WARDMAN IS SET FOR TONIGHT

Formal Will Be Outstanding Social Event of Week of Entertainment

PROM WILL BE HELD IN LARGE BALLROOM

Lido Band, Under the Direction of Johnny Slaughter, to Play G. W. Tunes

All roads lead to the large ballroom of the Wardman Park Hotel this evening when the Spring Formal, George Washington University's apex of social triumphs, is held. The work and interest of every fraternity and organization at this moment forecasts a splendid attendance and the bids for prominent positions for the many banners to be displayed in the ballroom is another indication of the lively interest which is being manifested on the campus.

Heading the list of patrons and patronesses will be President and Mrs. Marvin Dean and Mrs. Hodskins. Provost and Mrs. Wilbur Dean and Mrs. Doyle Dean Rose, Secretary and Mrs. Kayser, Comptroller and Mrs. Holmes, Dean and Mrs. Borden, Dean and Miss Henning, Dean and Mrs. Van Vleck, Dean and Mrs. Lapham, Dean and Mrs. Bradley and Dean and Mrs. Ruediger.

Lido Band Engaged

The spacious ballroom with its luxurious atmosphere will serve as a most pleasing center for the strains issuing from the famous Lido Band led by that collegiate favorite, Johnny Slaughter, who is well-known for his playing at the Interfraternity Prom as well as the Junior Prom last year. He has promised many new favorites, including the latest releases, the Duff and Blue, a number of fraternity songs as well as some of the songs from the Troubadour performance.

That many students will avail themselves of taking in the show as well as the Formal is evidenced by the fact that the house for the show is sold out for this evening.

Stags to be Admitted

Stags will be admitted at the nominal price of one dollar and a half. The committee in charge consists of "Bucky" Herzog, chairman, Don Igert, George Von Dachenhausen, Lyman Dishman, James Lumsden, and Darrell Crain.

Tickets may be obtained from the Bursar's office, the office of the Dean of Men or from any of the fraternity houses.

G. W. STUDENT UNION TO BE WIG'S FEATURE

Students Invited to Participate in Open Forum of Publication

"A Student Union at George Washington University" is the topic to be featured in the "Stray Locks" department of the next issue of the Colonial Wig. Following its policy of being an open forum for the expression of student opinion, the Colonial Wig will welcome articles dealing with this latest topic, or any other topic pertaining to the student body. The first written expression of the need for a Student Union appeared in the Colonial Wig of last November, when Anna Pearl Cooper, member of the English Department, advocated a Student Union Building as one of "George Washington University's Greatest Needs." Those students interested in writing on this topic will find a further expression of the idea in an editorial that appeared in The Hatchet for April 17, 1929.

Reasons for the need or the indispensability of a Student Union, as well as any constructive ideas on a Student Union building, are desired. The contributions are unlimited as to the number of words, although the Board of Editors of the Colonial Wig reserves the right to "cut" any article that it sees fit.

All contributions must be in not later than Sunday, May 12, and may be given to any member of the staff or to Mr. Bement, or be placed in the Colonial Wig Box.

Troubadour's "Sometime Soon" Rivals Famed New York Musical Comedy Hits

Entire Cast and Production Personnel Present Well-Balanced Comedy Containing Six Outstanding Song Numbers; Sue Crump Nearly Steals Show as She Rocks House With Her "Blues"

By EDWARD JAMIESON

Out Wardman was there is considerable excitement these days, for "Sometime Soon" has come. Onto the campus and about town the enthusiasm has spread, for the 1929 production of the George Washington Troubadours is good—really good.

If you haven't heard Sue Crump sing her "Bye-Bye" blues, you will have to confine your conversation to "yes" and "no" during the next few days. And you'll have the same regrets if you cannot express your opinion, and it should be good, of the singing of Harriet Rissler and John Silaz of the theme song, "Sometime Soon," and Mildred Burnham's "What Care I?"

These four would be able to make any show go over, but in addition they are supported by a cast that is hard to call amateur. There are the two Jerrys, Free and Sicker. Every one knew before of the second, and few will forget in the future the first, for their comedy was clever.

Down through the cast each carried his part well and it is difficult to name one unless something be said of all. John Hoyt, as Grand Duke Something or Other, provided more than one good laugh, and the soft-shoe dancing of Ralph Kennedy and Steve Nyman certainly must not be forgotten.

The dancing of the choruses, both men and women, was as good as could be expected, the best by far being the tall girls' chorus version of the "varsity drag." There is little doubt but what the rough edges of the group dancing will be smoothed out during the later performances.

Although the music hits provide the highlights of the show, they are carried along by a very cleverly constructed book by Ralph Hilton. Very light in nature, the story has four bits of complication which hold it together with great success until the finale.

The romance of Gloria and Gordon, portrayed by Miss Rissler and Mr. Silaz, is the leading one and contains the only gesture of seriousness in the production. Both singers extraordinary, they provide one of the biggest hits of the show, shortly after the overture, when they sing together the theme song.

The other three bits are successfully brought to a happy end as Miss Burnham marries an extremely wealthy producer, Nesbit, played by Frank Westbrook, and by the way, he does it very well, attains something which he did not start out to get and the Jerrys find each other to be the right one.

There are six good musical numbers in the show, any one of which might have been stolen from a New York production. Aside from the three already mentioned, Anne and Harry provide a hit with "You Can't Be Good in Hollywood"; the two partners, Harry and Helen, with "Just We Two," and Gloria and Gordon with their "Cottage of Dreams."

When all is over and those in the cast return to the routine life of the audience, few will not agree that Dennis Connell, with his large group (Continued on page 2.)

University to Act as Host to Delegates to Semi-Annual Convention

Herbert E. Angel, representing The University Hatchet, was elected president of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, and Frank Kreglow, business manager of The Hatchet, was named secretary-treasurer of the organization at its annual spring convention, held May 3 and 4, at Allentown, Pa., under the auspices of Muhlenburg and Cedar Crest Colleges.

The convention opened Friday with a business session at which committee chairmen made their reports and problems of organization were discussed. Elections for officers for the coming year, at which L. Earle Winters, Muhlenburg College, was elected vice president, and Professor J. M. Lee, New York University, executive secretary, were held Saturday. Entries for the semi-annual news and editorial contests were made at the Saturday meeting.

Banquet a Feature

A banquet at which Richard J. Beamish, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, was the chief speaker, closed the convention. Mr. Beamish suggested the organization of an international collegiate newspaper association and discussed the qualities and faults of college papers.

Dr. W. F. Curtis, president of Cedar Crest College, welcomed the delegates at the banquet. Herbert E. Angel, newly elected president of the organization, expressed his appreciation of the honor and welcomed the delegates in advance to the fall meeting at George Washington University. Professor Anthony Corbiere of Muhlenburg College spoke on his early experience and on the properly conducted college newspaper.

The convention will meet in Washington in the fall under the auspices of the University Hatchet.

PLANS FOR Y. W. C. A. WEEK-END COMPLETED

Last Outing of Year Set For Camp Kahler; New Officers Will Be Installed

Plans for the Y. W. C. A. week-end trip to Camp Kahler have been completed, according to Eloise Lindsay and Virginia Crocker, who are in charge of arrangements. Boats are available, and there are hints of a program after installation.

Major and minor officers for the coming year will be installed. The recently elected officers are: President, Dorothy Ruth; vice president, Dorothy Albert; secretary, Elizabeth Buntan, and treasurer, Sarah Reed. Committee chairmen have not yet been named.

All girls who cannot make their own arrangements for transportation, and those who have extra places in their cars, are to see Eloise Lindsay immediately. She will also furnish motoring directions.

It is estimated that about twenty-five girls will make this trip, which is the closing event of the Y. W. C. A. for the year, and a general get-together for members passing out of office and members and officers for the coming year. All women of the University are invited. The cost of the outing is $2.50, exclusive of transportation.

THEY ALSO SERVE

Springtime is universally recognized as convention time, and present day conventions are coming to mean far more than a casual and boring business session or so, preceded and followed by handshaking and politicking for the site of the next gathering of that particular group. Conventions, with their exchanges of ideas, their discussion of common problems, and their bringing together of those with identical purposes and different views, are now considered valuable parts of the year's activities by most organizations.

College presidents and deans and departments all have their yearly meetings, and have had them for many years. Within the past decade college newspapers have been following in the footsteps of the faculty in this respect. Ten years ago the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, to which The University Hatchet belongs, was founded. Members of this association have met twice a year since that time and have been able to cooperate with each other in ways that are in themselves uninteresting to readers but that are beneficial insofar as the style, content, and make-up of the member papers are concerned. By pooling common information, a marked improvement has been made all along the line.

The University Hatchet has intrusted to it the beginning of the second decade of service of this organization of twenty-seven colleges and universities along the eastern coast, and is afforded an opportunity of making the association a powerful unit in intercollegiate journalism. It is to be hoped that the fall convention of this body, to be held at the University in the fall, will bring out the fact that substantial steps forward have been made under the leadership of the local publication.

So, too, the colleges and universities in and around Washington meet Saturday to discuss ways and means of an even closer cooperation between them, by exchanging experiences, and even actual copy and photographs for use in one or more of the local papers.

The Publications Council of the University is to be congratulated for its efforts to aid in bringing closer together the college journals of Washington, whose ultimate aim is the same; namely, the better serving of their respective college communities.

Last week's social activities included almost every fraternity on the campus. The fair-coed chorines, who practiced until late with the Troubadours, and then danced until later with fraternity men, appeared somewhat whooped down about the end of the week. By the end of this week, with the Prom tonight, the Vodvil Friday, and Wardman after the show the other nights, everyone will be dead—or else.

of assistants, has made of the 1929 Troubadour production a show worthy of any university, large or small, and of which George Washington may be justly proud. "It is a mighty fine show, and take a hint (not publicity, if you know what is meant) see it if you haven't done so already."

Aside from those in the cast already mentioned, Ruth Greenwood plays Mrs. Wimpleton; Virginia Frye, Miss Witherspoon; and you will laugh at her laugh: Ben Newton is the motion picture director; Solomon Schnapp, the press agent; and Victor Prender, Meadows.

In the smaller girls' chorus are Dora Scott Smith, Vivian Ward, Martha Williams, Winifred Beall, Beverly Rittenhouse, Verna Parsons, Della Little, Lorena Carol, Dorothy Schenker and Margaret Mays.

The middle chorus consists of Emily Pilkinton, Caroline Jackson, Carolyn Brasch, Marian Lum, Katherine Boykin, Sally Hingman, Leona Viers, Dorothy Algire, Mariel Davis, and Margaret Evans.

The third is made up of Julia Denning, Louise Berryman, Betty Waller, Dorothy Gray, Josephine Latner, Helen Walker, Mae Harris Clark, Lillian Breckenridge, Claire Beckham, Jean Sime, and Barbara Miller.

Carrying a minor role, Richard Kilstein leads the men's chorus along with his well sung opening number "Follow the Musketeers." The others are Erith Smith, Leslie Murphy, Henry Stewart, Wim Weitzel, and Harry Amos.

The girls were trained in their dancing by Julia Denning and the men by Ralph Kennedy. Connell was aided in his directing by Bill Jemison and James Fleck, the former handling the music.

The stage settings and their management was done under the direction of Pern Henninger, aided by Don Iglehart, Robert Adams, and Porter Struthers. Peggy Parker designed and made possible the various costumes worn by the three girls' choruses.

Obviously, few of us have the chance—or temerity—to make matadors out of ourselves. But even in the normal course of human events, there's nothing so welcome as a refreshing pause. Happily there's a soda fountain or refreshment stand—with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready—around the corner from anywhere. ## K. A. NEARS TITLE; THETA DELT GOES INTO TIE FOR LEAD

Acacia and Theta Delt To Meet
Saturday in "Crucial"
Game

BATTLE HURLS FIRST SHUTOUT OF SEASON

K. A. Can Clinch Title by Defeating
Sigma Chi Sunday

One team neared the championship of its league and another drove itself into a tie for the lead in the other league, as the result of three games played by fraternity baseball nines last Sunday.

In League A, the undefeated Kappa Alphas continued their winning ways when they defeated T. U. O., 9-8. By winning this fray, the K. A.'s registered their third straight win, and should they succeed in defeating Sigma Chi this Sunday, will take the title of their league.

Theta Delta Chi, in the other bracket of nines, likewise kept its record unmarred, when they handed the S. P. E.'s a terrible mauling to win by a 16-0 count. As Acacia, its closest rival, did not play, the record of each club is identical, with three wins and no losses for each.

These two rivals will meet Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a game which, without doubt, will decide the winner of League B. A large crowd is expected to watch the leading contenders struggle for supremacy.

K. A. Wins Another

With "Pigeon" Marshall showing the way, the hard-hitting K. A. nine slugged out another victory over a league rival when they hit safely 15 times to defeat T. U. O., 9-8. Trail,ing by one run, Marshall drove out a double with the bases full in the second to score three mates and later came through with a home run in the fifth inning to sew up the game. The losers threatened seriously in the ninth, when with two out, they scored three runs, but Connor tightened up and with the bases full, forced Herzog to roll a weak grounder for the final out.

Battle Again Hurls Brilliantly

Theta Delta Chi added another game to its string of victories when they scored the first shut-out of the current season to decisively trim S. P. E., 16-0. The losers had a hard time hitting against Dick Battle and only got five hits while the Theta Delt's combed the offerings of Davis and Lefler for 21 safe bingles.

By winning, the Sig Alphas gained a percentage of .500 with two victories in four games while the losers have still been unable to break into the win column in four games, dropping everyone of their starts.

It was the first meet of the year for the George Washington team and their first under the leadership of their newly-elected captain, Jim Suter. His specialties are the discus and the shot put, but he also exhibits well in the javelin throw; in Saturday's events he placed in all three.

CO-ED SWIMMERS LOSE TO N. Y. U. AGGREGATION

Cates Wins Fancy Diving Contest By Large Margin in Fine
Exhibition

By HAZEL PETERSON

Swimming to victory over the G. W. co-ed swimming team, New York University rolled up a total of 38 points to the 17 earned by the local team in the dual swimming meet held at the Y. W. C. A. pool on Saturday evening, May 4.

Events which were included in the program were free style dashes, breast stroke, back stroke, fancy diving, a medley relay and a regular relay. The medley relay was an interesting event in which swimmers were given a chance to swim their lap in their speediest stroke. Kyle was put in for the back stroke to lead off. Humphrey followed in the second lap with the breast stroke, and Cates pepped up the last lap with a crawl.

Cates Wins Diving

Entrants in the fancy diving contest for George Washington were: Elizabeth Cates and Helen Humphrey, competing against Ruth Bracker and Muriel Costello of N. Y. U. This event was won by Cates of the Colonial team with a total of 55.6 points to the 50.3 earned by Bracker for the opponents.

HOOD DOWNED BY CO-ED TENNIS TEAM

G. W. Women Win Both Double
Matches and Two of Three Singles

GAMES ARE SPECTACULAR

First Round of Interclass Tournament is Delayed on Account of Rain

George Washington women decisively defeated Hood College in the exhibition match staged here on Saturday, May 4, by winning two out of three singles matches and both of the doubles.

The two doubles matches were complete victories; the Colonial women completely outplaying the visitors. Wright and Morris of G. W. defeated Weaver and Lynch of Hood, 6-1, 6-2, while Crumley and Collins of G. W. almost duplicated the score by downing Clawson and Williams of the opposing team by a score of 6-2, 6-2. Crumley played an exceptionally good game at net, and Morris was consistent throughout.

The most spectacular match of the day was played by Turnbull of the local team and Pilgrims of Hood. Both players have good tennis form and complete strokes, and were evenly matched, as shown by the scores, 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, in favor of the visitor.

Spectacular Playing

This match was distinguished by long volleys and smashing returns on both sides. Each took her points with ease and grace, and it was impossible to determine the winner as the play progressed. This was the only match lost by the Buff and Blue squad, and at the same time the most dashing to watch. Turnbull made several good plays at net, and succeeded in placing down the side lines at times. Many of her points were acquired through errors of her opponent.

Sproul defeated Garber of Hood in a close match with a score of 6-4, 7-5. Sproul, whose form and style has improved remarkably since last year, often disconcerts her opponent by her left-handed play, and scored several points by lobs over the Hood player's head.

In a spectacular but inconsistent game, Wright, captain of the Colonial squad, defeated Weaver, 6-1, 6-2. She excels in hard drives to the back court, which are almost impossible for her opponent to return. Hood College is not allowed to enter inter-collegiate competition, so this match was for exhibition only. After the playing, the visitors were entertained with tea.

The American University match, which was scheduled for Wednesday, May 1, was postponed until next week because of rain.

At the conclusion of the discussions the conference will be called together for a short general session on matters of interest to the entire convention. ### G. W. RIFLEMEN LOSE TO NAVY IN OUTDOOR MEET

Colonial Musketeers are Handicapped By Inexperience in Outdoor Range Work

The G. W. Rifle Team shot their first outdoor match at Annapolis Saturday, losing to the Naval Academy by the score of 1,341 to 1,415.

Wm. Lane, team captain, was high man for G. W. with 234. Second high was taken by Alan Reneau, with 227, although he made a poor start by dropping below his average standing score.

Four of the men on the team are new to the outdoor matches, having little or no experience on the 600-yard range. Some of the men had never fired even 300 yards in a match. Firth Marquis, making 225, deserves special credit for his rapid fire—he shoots left handed—at a greater speed than the required 10 shots per minute, with a bolt-action gun designed to be shot right handed.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COLUMBIA

Douglas Fairbanks, Romantic and adventurous, in "The Iron Mask," remains for a second week at Loew's Columbia. Doug portrays the role of D'Artagnan that was a success in "The Three Musketeers." In this United Artists' sound production he is heard speaking on the screen for the first time in the prologue and the epilogue. Also the audience hears the singing of Doug and his three comrades.

EARLE

"A Dangerous Woman," said to be the first African talking film with experienced stage actors to appear on the local screen, is the screen subject this week at the Earle Theater.

Baclanova, Russian dramatic artist, formerly with the Moscow Art Theater, plays the title role. Clive Brook, Neil Hamilton and Leslie Fenton are colonial residents who fall before the romantic onslaughts of the siren, and Snitz Edwards and Clyde Cook provide comedy relief.

FOX

"The Donovan Affair," the all-talking mystery drama at the Fox this week, was called "the perfect talking picture" following its showing, last week, at the Roxy Theater in New York City.

The story is from Owen Davis' successful play of the same name. It gives Jack Holt his first talking role, and reports give this actor praise for his performance.

LITTLE THEATER

"Krasin," the official camera record of the rescue of the crew of the dirigible "Italia," commanded by Gen. Umberto Nobile, shown at the Little Theater this week, under the auspices of the Film Arts Guild.

Other attractions include a Harry Langdon earthquake revival entitled "Hansom Cabman," with a UFA oddity, the weekly newswheel, and the Little Musical Trio rounding out the program.

METROPOLITAN

"Close Harmony," Paramount's talking, singing and dancing picture which has been filling the Metropolitan Theater at every performance last week, is held over for one more week. Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Nancy Carroll are featured in the production, in which "red hot" music of the jazz age is an outstanding element.

PALACE

This is "farewell week" for Wesley Eddy at Loew's Palace, where the picture is Paramount's talking production "Gentlemen of the Press," adapted from the play of the same name and featuring Walter Huston as a veteran newspaper man torn between the love of his work and his family ties. Betty Lawford and Katherine Francis are pictured as the daughter and sweetheart of the newspaper man.

On the stage Wesley Eddy makes his final bow to Washington in his seventy-fifth consecutive week as master of ceremonies. The latest John Murray Anderson production, "Say It With Music," holds forth.

RIALTO

"Show Boat," Carl Laemmle's singing and talking movietone picture, combining the romance, color and drama of Edna Ferber's novel and the popular musical hits of the Florenz Ziegfeld stage production, has proven such a hit at the Rialto that the management is holding it over for a third week's showing.

The results of the contests that have been completed are: Miles defeated Zimmerman; Butler defeated Peterson, 6-4, 6-0; Crouch defeated Loeffler; Towend defeated Booth, default; Crumley defeated Boykin, 6-0, 6-0; Irey defeated Parsons, 6-0, 6-3; Brantley defeated Reed, 6-2, 6-2; Kise defeated Lum, default; All defeated Rowdybush, default; and Breckinridge defeated Abeles, 7-5, 2-6 7-5.

Wallenstein, each gave their host plenty of trouble before bowing. Each match went to the limit of three sets and all but one of the six sets went into extra games with the G. W. player copping the first set in each instance. However, the Navy man came back strong and won the next two sets in both cases.

Singles—Considine (G. W.) defeated Farrin, 6-4, 6-4; Halstead (Navy) defeated Phillips, 6-2, 6-2; Salisbury (Navy) defeated Watson, 6-1, 6-1; Stauby (G. W.) defeated McRoberts, 6-3, 6-3; Robertson (Navy) defeated Sickler, 7-9, 7-5, 7-5; Lucas (Navy) defeated Wallenstein, 8-10, 6-4, 7-5.

Doubles—Farrin and McRoberts (Navy) defeated Considine and Phillips, 6-8, 6-2, 6-4; Halstead and Fenton (Navy) defeated Sickler and Stauby, 6-4, 6-2; Robertson and Lucas (Navy) defeated Wallenstein and Arnold, 6-1, 6-3.

Next Match Probably at Edgemoor
The G. W. team will play its next match on Friday, May 10, when it encounters the Haverford racquetters, probably at the Edgemoor Club. In meeting the Pennsylvanians, the Colonials will tackle a team which is playing some of the best teams in the East. Besides the G. W. match, the Haverford club is meeting Drexel, Penn. Army, Columbia, Swarthmore, Delaware, Wesleyan, Williams, Stevens, and the University of Virginia. Several of the men on the visiting team hold numerous titles. Gray, No. 1, will be one of the biggest threats to the Colonial team and will probably be seen in action against either Considine or Phillips.

Why one-way Street?

"Well, I'm only goin' one way!" replied the legendary motorist to the amazed John Law.

A laudable principle—if applied in the right direction... exactly as our long experience in cigarette making assures us that the only avenue to enduring popularity is a one-way street.

All the arrows along Chesterfield's route, from plantation to pocket, point directly to taste. No left turns into insipidity—no detours around the plain duty of good tobaccos—to SATISFY.

An overdose of analogy, perhaps, but you get our drift: Chesterfields are mild—but mildness is not overdone; they're never flat. Naturally smooth, aromatic tobaccos are so blended that every last atom of their flavor is delivered to the smoker.

Here is that very rare bird, a cigarette that does satisfy.

CHESTERFIELD

MILD enough for anybody...and yet...THEY SATISFY
